

Reading

Let's celebrate:

- At school the children have been working so hard to learn our new phonemes, sound talking, blending and reading our tricky words.
- Reading together at home is such a special opportunity for you all to share a love of books, find favourite stories and enjoy storytelling together. Keep up the good work.

This term we would like:

- To read more of your lovely comments in the yellow reading records.
- To see more of you in the classroom choosing books together at the end of the day.

We are always available to discuss interesting and exciting ways to support your reading together at home.
